The Excitement in Paris Unabated.

Belligerent Views of the Constitutionnel.

Prussia Profoundly Surprised at the Attitude of France.

Prince Leopold Accepts the Situation.

Lively Warlike Preparations by Napoleon.

Interview Between the Spanish and French Ministers.

PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, July 10.—Military men here appear excited about the Spanish imbroglio. It is not thought possible war will result between us.

The Prussian Gens Gazette, a ministerial organ, disapproves of Gramont's declaration in the French Chamber. It says he must know, as every one does, that the King of Prussia and the heads of the Confederation are all indifferent to the claims of Leopold to the Spanish throne. He had no right, in the absence of evidence, to charge specified power with the disposition to disturb what is purely European equilibrium, since Hohenzollern is a free agent, and may or may not accept the crown. His decision will not affect Prussia's neutrality.

SPAIN.

MADRID, July 10.—Regent Serrano has deferred his intended departure from Madrid.

It is reported that the Unionists in the Cortes will vote against Salmeron, unless the question assumes an international cast.

The Imparcial publishes an account of an interview between Minister Sagasta and Baron Mercier, French Ambassador. Sagasta complained that France opposes all nominations for the throne, save that of the Prince of Asturias. He denied that Spain was under the influence of Prussia, and regretted the susceptibility of the French Government.

The report in the Paris Gaulois, that Superior preconcerted against Hohenzollern, and called on the latter to withdraw his candidature, is utterly false. The contradiction is given on the best authority.

FRANCE.

PARIS, July 10.—A dispatch from Bordeaux announces that Prince Napoleon has made a public declaration that he will not be a candidate for the throne, save that of the Prince of Asturias. He denied that Spain was under the influence of Prussia, and regretted the susceptibility of the French Government.

The report in the Paris Gaulois, that Superior preconcerted against Hohenzollern, and called on the latter to withdraw his candidature, is utterly false. The contradiction is given on the best authority.

—Two or three years ago, the French courts were called upon to support a husband who accused his wife's debut on the stage; within the last week the Faubourg St. Germain has been most deeply scandalized by a similar proceeding on the part of one of its most distinguished members. The Countess de C——, who, before taste in her eyes, entered her husband's room and announced that she was about to make her debut at the Opera-Comique. Monsieur C——e (thunder as he saw a bundle of folded papers) (Mother! The Countess' other half) looked as follows: I will confess everything. I will confess that it is my duty to leave the conjugal roof. The Count listened, turned pale with jealousy, a thousand horrid thoughts crossed through his brain, and snatching the letters from his wife's hand, he saw a package of bills to the amount of 5,000 francs, and, to the tune of 25,000 francs, Countess, who also left upon his purse, Monsieur de C——e (with unusual energy) relieved, but still he scowled. (Another package.) "Ah, now I see that he is only a kept man!" (Another package.) "Ah, now I see that he is only a kept man!" (Another package.) "Ah, now I see that he is only a kept man!"

THE SOUTH-WEST.

The Democratic Convention of Missouri met at Jefferson City yesterday, and nominated a State ticket. The platform declares for the payment of the public debt in coin, and for the repeal of the Specie Resumption act. The Democrats of Missouri are not in favor of repudiation, but they are in favor of paying the debt in the money which the people have, and not in the money which the bondholders have. The Democrats of Missouri are not in favor of contracting the currency, but they are in favor of expanding it. They are not in favor of robbing the people, but they are in favor of robbing the bondholders. CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE

The Canadian Parliament has been engaged for the past few days in discussing the question of Canadian independence. The debate has been very interesting, and has shown that the Canadians are not in favor of repudiation, but they are in favor of paying the debt in the money which the people have, and not in the money which the bondholders have. The Canadians are not in favor of contracting the currency, but they are in favor of expanding it. They are not in favor of robbing the people, but they are in favor of robbing the bondholders. NEW BOOKS.

SCRIPTURE FOR ARGUMENT OR ILLUSTRATION. A Complete Concordance to the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, Arranged on a New Principle. By Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the Famous Preacher of London. With a Preface by Rev. Joseph Parker, of London. New York: Funk & Wagnalls. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co.

The volume before us is simply a compendium, a book of illustrations, original and published, by Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher of London, and is designed to be used as the material of a homiletic student as a rhyming dictionary, to afford the practical draughtsman of the pulpit with ready-made fashions for their sermons. To the preacher who lives on a cheap sermon, this book of Spurgeon will prove of value; but to him whose sermon is thick and pithiness, we conceive they will prove of little value. In either case, it would redound more to the wealth of the pulpit for each preacher to manufacture his own feathers. Mr. Spurgeon's feathers are of very fine quality, and very luxurious in color; but we fear that for that very reason they will not fit readily on ministerial arms. The volume furnishes, however, one very excellent hint for all preachers of the present or any other time, and that is the manner in which the Bible is made to contain a lengthened text, be it in the habit of carrying with him a note-book, in which to jot down the illustrations which occur to him. Such a note-book would prove a special Thesaurus to any minister, as, if not lead upon paper, ideas are very apt to vanish with the morning dew of the sanctum. Probably Mr. Spurgeon's sermons are hammered out and polished with great care, though they present the appearance of having been struck off at a heat. The volume is handsomely bound and printed, and is a curiosity in the way of elucidation, at least.

THE HISTORY OF ENGLISH POETRY, from Thomas Ritson to the Present Time. By Thomas Warton, B. D. Post-Laureate. Edited by Richard Hazlitt. With Notes and Illustrations of Authorities, and the Principles of Poetry by the Editor. In Four Volumes. Vol. I. New York: G. R. Putnam & Son. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co.

It is almost needless for us to say anything in praise of WARTON'S "History of English Poetry,"—an authority in poetry which has become a standard. The present edition, on its new form, will be eagerly sought for by scholars. Its prominent merits are vastly summed up. It contains a complete record of minstrel, Norman poetry than any other work on poetry. Its selections are made both profusely and discriminatively, and its criticism is very valuable. All lovers of poetry will welcome this just after the Conquest, and dating in the splendid literature of the Elizabethan Era, it presents a rich field of information for the student, and, indeed, a delightful compendium of poems for the general reader. It is not only a history of poetry, but a history of the language, and incidentally, a history of passing events.

STEPS OF BELIEF; or, Rational Christianity. Manifested in Experience. By Rev. Newman Smyth. New York: Robert Carter & Brothers. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co.

By JAMES FREEMAN CLARKE.

Whatever may be entertained of the theological beliefs of James Freeman Clarke, his constant opposition must concede to him frankness and originality of statement, a power of condensation which is not at all dangerous, a facile graphicness, which, in addition to the old-fashioned round characteristics as to other varieties, of the "quill" and "bright" pattern, which still exists in this number, we are glad to notice, is much better than usual. Musical readers will be glad to find such pieces as "Hail to the Chief," one of Gumpert's ballads; "The Queen of Hearts," by Czerky; the dedicate to Mendelssohn's "Reformation Symphony," and the Gloria, from Haydn's "First Mass."

THE AMERICAN NATURALIST for July contains the following table of contents: "Mosses Foot Coals," by Rev. S. Lockwood; "The Seaweeds at Home and Abroad," by Prof. W. Russell; "Pool-Notes from a Page of Sand," by Dr. Elliott Coues; "The Centenary Anniversary of Natural History Miscellany."

THE FLEETON TEACHER for July has come to us with leading articles upon "The Crab Plan," "Grammar for Primary Schools," "Flowers Out of Doors," "My Little Folks," "Elementary Geography, II.," "Mistakes of Teaching Reading," "Two Ways of Doing School Work, IV.," and "Object Teaching," in addition to a large variety of editorial, selected and miscellaneous matter. It entitles to all the patronage of the excellent educational monthly we give place to the following extracts from a circular just issued by the editor, S. H. White, Esq., and the publisher, N. C. Nason, Esq.:

"At the official organ of the State Department of education, and the medium of communication to school officers, Hon. B. Sturgeon, State Superintendent of Schools, says: 'It is the best educational journal published in the West.'

"When correspondents desire it, they receive through the TEACHER, directly connecting at once with the best educational thought of the country, as it may be stated; and when, interesting questions arise in the school-room, they are discussed in the TEACHER, and decisions rendered by the TEACHER. Its columns are open to the discussion of the topics of the day, and to the free interchange of opinions by teachers.

"The TEACHER is a very able and valuable educational journal for teachers and school officers. Every Board of School Directors in the State should subscribe for it, and every teacher should subscribe for a copy of the TEACHER for the sake of the publication alone. Many of the articles are worth that of the number. That alone should be sufficient to induce every teacher to subscribe."

In its general page the TEACHER contains a great deal of very useful information, with personal supervision, concerning the duties of teachers and school officers, and is worthy the attention of every one interested in the subject.

A DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, as Spoken in the United States. By JOSEPH E. WORCESTER, LL. D. Boston: Hickling, Swan & Brewer. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co.

RELIGIOUS.

Consecration of John Street Church.

Sermon by Dr. Mayhew.

Bishop Ingraham at Grace Church.

Church Dedication.

Another new church edifice was dedicated to the holy work of God on yesterday. The Reformed Episcopal Church of St. Ambrose, (late Forty-second street Methodist Episcopal,) corner of the new Boulevard, erected by the West Indiana Improvement Company, on the line of the Boulevard, between Indiana and Prairie avenues. Had it been ever the good report, but it shines to say that the structure is entirely Methodistic in all its appointments, and is, moreover, a credit to the denomination. It will not be necessary to say more than that the Rev. M. C. J. C. Clarke, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, officiated.

THE ELECTIONS.

Official Returns of the Vote in Cook County.

We publish below the official returns of the vote cast at the late election, giving the vote for and against the constitution, and the number respectively substituted, as well as for the Judges of the Supreme and the Superior Court of Cook County.

IMPORTANT PATENT INTO VIR.

James W. Tyler v. William M. Darby, Samuel H. Kerfoot, J. Ryan Flanders and Thomas Kerfoot—Bill for Injunction.—This is a bill bringing into controversy an important patent of valuable real estate in this city. The bill is filed by James W. Tyler. The bill is filed to one which has been on hearing before Judge Blodgett, brought by Tyler against Darby, Kerfoot & Co., and Kerfoot & Co., as assignee of Darby, Kerfoot & Co., and Kerfoot & Co., were the owners of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 1, 39 north, 14 east. The property was platted and made to be known as Tyler & Hawkeye addition to the city of Chicago, and is platted, of S. H. Kerfoot, who is the assignee of Darby, Kerfoot & Co., for the benefit of the creditors of Darby, Kerfoot & Co. It is alleged that on the 1st day of April, 1869, Darby, Kerfoot & Co. were the owners of the property, and that Darby, Kerfoot & Co. actually became owners of the property on the 1st day of April, 1869, and that Tyler, Darby, Kerfoot & Co. were then insolvent, and that Darby, Kerfoot & Co. were then indebted to Tyler in the sum of $2,000
